Chairman's Review

This has certainly been a year for the record books. Who could have imagined that squash players would head the medal table for New Zealand at a Commonwealth Games event. This was an incredible effort not only for our medal winners but also for our entire Commonwealth Games team. It has been a big year for international events and our senior women finished a creditable third at the World Teams Championships without the services of our legendary Leilani.

A FAREWELL TO LEILANI

Leilani retired from the game to start a family and end what has been a wonderful career. She not only held National and International titles including British Open in 1999 but in 2001 she became world number one, a title not held by a New Zealander since the reign of Dame Susan Devoy. It was only fitting that Leilani clinched two Commonwealth gold medals before her retirement.

INTERNATIONAL LEADERSHIP

Also on the international scene New Zealand has been proud to boast Susie Simcock as President of World Squash. Susie completed her role as President this year but has been appointed to a further term in the distinguished position of Emeritus President. At this year's World Squash Annual General Meeting Neven Barbour was appointed Vice President. Neven and Susie have made huge contributions to the game in this part of the world and our congratulations go to them both.

MORE FIRSTS

But what of the game here in New Zealand? Those who read my report last year will know that we opened the National Squash Centre and appointed Dave Clarke to the position of national coach. I mention Dave in the same breath as the new Centre as it is almost inconceivable to have one without the other. Dave has had a busy first season and accolades surrounding his skills have flooded in.

The National Squash Centre is now home to our national training squads and for the first time this year the Nationals were hosted in the venue with overwhelming appreciation from players and supporters alike. No doubt this will now be the preferred venue for showcase squash events.

CHANGES

The National Centre was a project of Squash Dynamics and disappointingly we have decided to shelve this organisation in its current form. This follows Neven Barbour's move to another venture. However, Neven's skills and services are still very much available to clubs through the National Office. From its inception, the wholly owned Squash New Zealand enterprise constructed 17 state-of-the-art courts at four locations around the country and assisted many clubs with ideas on renovations and upgrades. This invaluable work will not cease, rather the board will look at alternative methods to continue this same level of support and service.

SOME HIGHS

- Club Kelburn, another Squash New Zealand enterprise has had a record year with Rob Walker's enthusiastic guidance. A quick visit to Club K's website will give anyone an insight into how Rob manages to grow squash as a business.
- The most exciting news of the year is the phenomenal growth in junior players. Certain areas around the country have had a veritable boom in youngsters joining clubs. Some of this is attributable to the SDO effort directed into schools and, in particular, the success of the micro court programme.

Assisting us with this work has been a generous sponsorship with 5+A Day. An indication of just how well constructed this programme has been is evidenced by its inclusion as a finalist in this year's SPARC awards.

So successful has the junior programmes been that the call for a junior grading list has been actioned. Steve Scott, our Grading List guru, has been working hard on a new junior list that we hope to have functioning early next year.

AN UNCERTAIN FUTURE

Those interested in the administrative side of sport will be familiar with the recent changes implemented by government in relation to funding. SPARC is the new sports administrative body that replaces The Hillary Commission and The Sports Foundation. It is particularly reassuring to have been given the status of a "Performance" Sport by the new body as this means Squash has secured a reasonable level of funding conditional on results. This does however put real pressure on the sport as a whole to continue to grow and produce international players. Without SPARC funding our entire High Performance programme would be in jeopardy.

ANOTHER CHANGE AT THE HELM

For our proficient and dedicated team at the National Office 2002 has not been an easy year. Ang Becroft who joined us as Chief Executive late last year moved back into the corporate world leaving us without a CEO. In spite of this upheaval Vivienne, Wayne, Dave, Jan and Doug kept the show on the road. They did better than simply manage, they ran The Nationals at the National Squash Centre and undertook a number of other activities without a glitch.

The hunt for a new Chief Executive has delivered us Peter Fergusson, the former CEO of Northland Rugby and, he tells us, a former B-grader. Peter's six-year stint with Northland Rugby is one of rugby's recent success stories and we are privileged to now have Peter at the helm.

A SALUTE TO YOUR BOARD AND THE NATIONAL OFFICE

This year two colleagues, including myself, stand down from the Board. It is heartening to see a renewed interest in serving on the Board and pleasing to see the calibre of applicants. When the board changes we lose two wonderful stalwarts, Debra Rodgerson and Jan McAra, who have been synonymous with squash in New Zealand for longer than they would like me to reveal. They are however not lost to squash, as they will continue to work unselfishly in their own regions.

The transition of Chief Executive has made for a challenging year. But like all of life's challenges it seems to bring out the best in the best. I would like to pay tribute to my Board who have impressed me with their effort and contribution. It almost seems a shame to dismantle such a talented and hard working group. Thank you to Gerard DeCourcy, Jim O'Grady, John Sangster, not forgetting Debra and Jan, ably supported by Vivienne Brumby, Wayne Werder, Jan Lewis and the unforgettable Doug Flint. In the time I have been on council I seem to have been surrounded by quite remarkable people, but maybe that's what makes squash such an incredible game.

A PARTING COMMENT

A decade ago I was incensed at what I saw as the decline of our game. I can never forget the infighting and squabbling at an Annual General Meeting I attended in Palmerston North. It defied logic.

Bill Murphy, the then Chief Executive, asked me to help him with a market research project he had initiated which he hoped would uncover how the games decline could be reversed. Out of that research came the now pivotal Crellin Report. With Peter Crellin and Neven Barbour we produced a programme called "A whole new ball game" designed to set a new direction for squash. Peter Crellin warned us at the time that clubs might not be ready for 'something this radical.' He was right and following several years of further trouble the National Office moved seriously into debt. It was at this time that Neven Barbour and myself were asked if we would stand for council.

We were fortunate to score the services of David Knowles as a CEO who helped move the organisation back into the black and into an era of cooperation that squash had not enjoyed in a long time.

I had hoped that in my time on Council I would see growth in player numbers, new and dynamic clubs springing up around the country and the game rewarded with a media profile it captured back in the Eighties. Ten years older and I hope a little wiser I can see that good things take a little longer than we often imagine. I believe we are at the beginning of a new era for squash.

The foundations for a wonderful future are there. We have a real unity and I believe a unified vision for the future. We are blessed with good people at all levels of the game. Our Districts understand better than ever before the work that has to be done and have a sense of purpose. The foundations are there and they are sound. We have a great opportunity to grow the game and ensure it has a sound future. The only things that will frustrate us will be if we take our eye off the ball. Change is still happening at an accelerating pace and we will need to adapt even more if we are to retain our status as a major sport.

I now believe that the new clubs can only be created from the ground up. The same passion and enthusiasm that gripped players in the boom period needs to be rekindled. That excitement that caused squash enthusiasts to band together all around New Zealand to build squash clubs. Our national office can only create the climate for change it cannot drive the change. Our clubs of the future will be the vision of a special few who are able to take people with them. They will create modern, bright squash and leisure facilities that our young people will want to come to. A place where social players will enjoy spending time with their friends. Within the 26,000 players out there these people exist in dozens of towns around the country. Find and support these people and ensure the legacy we leave our children is a strong and healthy sport.

Squash is a wonderful game, played by wonderful people.

DAVE BASSETT Chairman

Operations Manager's Report

It's time again to reflect on the year that has past, and to acknowledge the successes and contributions made by the New Zealand squash community. The 2002 season was indeed a very busy year, in fact, with four major team events, it is hard to remember a busier year on the world circuit. To add to the pressure, from a New Zealand perspective, it was not about participation or playing for minor placings at these world events, it was about preparing and competing for podium finishes. All of this international competition happening in the same year that Squash New Zealand implemented a new revitalised High Performance programme in an effort to ensure future success - no mean feat in itself.

The international success at the Commonwealth Games, with New Zealand topping the squash medal table was undoubtedly the highlight of the year. The retirement of Leilani Rorani, brought to a close the career not only of a great squash player, but a great ambassador of the sport. The NZ women's team, without Leilani, showed the depth in women's squash is healthy, by finishing a commendable third at the world championships. On the domestic scene the 2002 will hopefully be viewed in latter years as the year when it all began for future champions. The work behind the scenes in implementing the findings from the 'Reaching Higher' review should not be underestimated and the foundations are now in place for our future champions to develop as players and people. Coaching was given a louder voice with the continuation of the National Coaching Panel, and a refined coach accreditation system, new coaching resources, and recognition through National Coaching awards were highlights.

The 2002 year was also a year of change for the leadership of both squash, and also sport in New Zealand. Internally, Squash New Zealand reviewed and sort an agreement on a strategy that will lead and direct the game of squash over the next five years. A new Chief Executive will be given the task of confirming this strategy and implementing it.

Squash New Zealand also watched changes to the way sport is lead in New Zealand with interest. SPARC, and their High Performance arm, the NZ Academy of Sport, finalised their own strategies for the leadership of sport, and their future relationship with Squash New Zealand with continue to be a critical success factor for our sport. Although squash missed out on been accredited by SPARC as a Priority Sport, it has been rated as a Performance Sport based on the international success our players have achieved. Our programmes, particularly High Performance, are dependent on the support of SPARC so squash will watch with interest as the nation's governing sporting body continues to fine tune the vision and strategy for NZ sport.

THE YEAR IN REVIEW

International

The international competitive scene started early with the preparation for the Commonwealth Games. The achilles injury of Leilani Rorani meant NZ was forced to send an under strength team to the World Doubles event in Manchester. The event did however provide valuable information on the tactical side of Doubles. The Commonwealth Games provided the NZ squash public with the highlight of the year. Carol Owen's silver medal in the individuals, where she narrowly lost to Sarah Fitzgerald in the final was the start of a fantastic week. Squash NZ had the entry of a men's doubles combination turned down by the NZ Olympic Committee, which meant only mixed and women's pairings were entered. History now shows that NZ claimed gold in both these events, and congratulations must go to the entire NZ team who worked together to ensure this unprecedented success.

Following the Commonwealth Games a NZ Women's team was selected to compete in the World Teams Championships in Denmark. The late withdrawal of Leilani Rorani, was a blow to the NZ chances of securing its first ever team World Championships. The team finished the event third, behind Australia and England, again a very commendable result.

Individually the NZ women continued to fly the flag for NZ on the world scene. Carol Owens carried on as world number two, and on the November world rankings took over as world number one for the first time in her career. Shelley Kitchen continued to work her way to a top ten ranking, and is a strong hope for the future. A positive sign for the men was the emergence of Jared Conning onto the international scene, and his win over ten times National Champion Paul Steel, is hopefully a sign of things to come.

On the junior scene, the World Junior Men's Championship fell victim to the world's current political turmoil, and was postponed from the original August date in India to a later date in December.

High Performance

The arrival of the Dave Clarke as National Coach gave Squash New Zealand the personnel to launch a revitalised High Performance programme, based on the findings and recommendations of the major HP review 'Reaching Higher'. His contribution has been enormous and Squash New Zealand should count itself lucky to have secured such a talent. The major achievement for the 2002 year was the establishment of the national squad structure, made up of three squads. The structure allows clear pathways to exist for our up and coming players, and competition for spots in these squads is now very evident, but extremely healthy for the game in NZ.

A major effort was made to gain the buy-in from the District Associations to 'mirror' the National structure to ensure the pathway started at club level. One of the pleasing aspects of 2002, was the speed as to which districts got behind the National HP Programme. All Districts, in some form, now have an operational HP programme headed by a District coach. These programmes are the crucial feeders to the National programme and Squash New Zealand will continue in 2003 to work closely with Districts to upskill coaches who deliver these programmes. The programme is by no means complete, and the commitment to constant improvement will carry through to 2003.

The funding of the programme continues to be largely through the support of the NZ Academy of Sport. As SPARC find their feet, Squash New Zealand needs to make the most of the services and support provided by these organisations. The integration of the latest developments in coaching and sports science will be the key to the success of our programmes. On an unhappy note, the allocation of NZAS 'cards' for our HP athletes has been reduced from 40 to 30 and will be reduced to 24 in 2003. The cut is disappointing considering the success in 2002, and has put pressure on the HP programme to make hard decisions as to the make up of the National Squads.

A High Performance programme would not exist without the support of the many passionate people who are involved in some way. As we reflect on a busy year the time is right to thank all those who have contributed. Thanks must go to all, from funders such as SPARC and the NZAS, through to the players, coaches, sport scientists, selectors, administrators and parents who dedicate large amounts of time, often unpaid, for the good of the game. Thanks to you all for your efforts.

Coaching

A major effort was made in 2002 to review and put in place initiatives to help the area of coaching. The focus was largely on grass roots coaching. The National Coaching Panel must be thanked for the time they gave to aid in this area. Their work saw a streamlined accreditation programme implemented that is more user friendly and relevant. 104 coaches participated in the new Level One courses, and two Level two courses were run. A set of coaching resources are being designed and should be available in early 2003, which are being designed to help club level coaches through to High Performances coaches. For the first time National Coaching awards were presented. Forty-five coaches were nominated for the three awards. Congratulations to Paul Kenny (Team Coach of the Year), Brett Watene and Charlie Moeke (Junior Coaches of the Year) and Mark Gribben (NZ Coach of the Year). Coaching is the leading retention tool of sport, and must continue to be funded and supported if squash is to advance at club level.

Domestic Competition

Once again Squash New Zealand provided two players series events. The junior series sponsored by 5+A Day gave juniors a chance to play six tournaments throughout New Zealand. Junior squash in New Zealand is healthy and over 1000 entries were received for the series. Congratulations to Amanda Cranston (Ohakune) and Josh Thom (Waiuku) who took the top honours. At the senior level, the SNZ Players series allowed the top players to compete over eight events throughout NZ. Three of the tournaments were registered as PSA world ranking events and as a consequence over 20 overseas players competed. Squash New Zealand will continue to work with the world's professional associations, PSA and WISPA, to provide our top players with international competition, however these associations seem intent on working only with the very elite level. As a consequence it is very difficult to organise and run world-ranking tournaments for second and third tier players.

The NZ National Championships were allocated to the recently opened National Squash Centre. The event gained a pleasing amount of media coverage and plenty of walk-in spectators (many that were non-squash players). Congratulations to Carol Owens and Daniel Sharplin, who both secured their first National title. It was interesting to watch the balance between the professional and social side of the sport. If squash is to win sponsorship in a competitive market then players need to accept that the delivery of the sport at the elite level needs to be professional. One of the successes of the Nationals was the inaugural Awards dinner. The night was a huge success and is set to become a regular event on the annual squash calendar.

Looking forward

Looking forward to the 2003 season, it is clear with a quieter international calendar the time is right to take a development focus. The High Performance programme will be fine-tuned, and SNZ will again work closely with the districts to improve their programmes. On a personal note I would like to thank all those who have helped, most of whom are volunteers. It still amazes me as to the passion of squash players and administrators, and without these people our sport would not exist in the form it does today. I look forward to another productive and successful year in 2003.

Wayne Werder
Operations Manager

National Coach's Report

The last year has been an exciting and busy year for me with the formation of the National Squad Structures, District Coaches Network and a heavy National Team Competition Schedule. It has been a year that has been pleasantly surprising in a lot of ways and eye opening in many others as we look to forge potential champions of the future.

It has been particularly pleasing the way that the players and the Districts have embraced the National Programme and set about developing their own programmes to compliment this. It was very clear early on that the districts co- operation was imperative if New Zealand is to produce future champions. I have seen some great work being done in the districts with new programmes, new ideas and new enthusiasm being pumped into the game. One district discussed at length a lot of the problems that they would encounter and were sceptical as to whether they could go forward. They overcame these problems and now have upwards of 70 juniors in their district programme with a plan already in place for 2003.

It is also clear that New Zealand needs more High Performance Coaches if we are to succeed on the World Stage. With that in mind a District Coaches Network was put in place so that coaches may discuss and speak to each other, exchange ideas and help New Zealand move forward as a whole. The response so far has been fantastic with coaches from all over the country coming together several times a year.

The competition schedule has been busy to say the least with four major events on the calendar this year. The success of the Commonwealth Games was stunning and a lot was learned from that experience in regard to doubles that can be used for the future. A third place in the World Women's Teams Event minus Leilani was a good result, but did show that if we want to win this event in future years there has to be a large group of young female players challenging the more established girls in the next few years.

The junior men's team has worked very hard over the year with the postponement of the World Junior Men's from August to December. The 2000 finish of 19th gives us an idea of where we are on the World stage as far as Men's squash is concerned. This is a main area of focus for the future if we are to see players of the calibre of Ross Norman and Stuart Davenport again in New Zealand.

After now having a year to assess some of the issues that we need to move forward, I believe that developing the professional culture is key in our efforts to achieve our goals. The New Zealand way of hanging up the racket after the nationals has to change in our performance players, as squash at the world level is an all year round game. Our players have to be open to constantly growing their game and looking to learn new ideas and different techniques. The technical side is very important for coaches and players to grasp if our players are to be competitive with the best players in the world, along with the understanding that to achieve results it takes a huge amount of work consistently over time. There is no easy way to success. Representation at junior levels should be a stepping stone on a career path to the world stage not a nice trip away only to put squash on the backburner once returning.

Another issue for New Zealand is politics, whether it be international, national or district or club. Politics are a part of sport but they are not the sport. We appear to have more than our fair share in the squash community which sometimes detracts from the game and our performances. When making decisions we should first ask how we could best help performance. With this in mind the NZ squash community can help by assisting, in getting behind the volunteers and encouraging the districts to get their coaching programmes in place with funding and support over time. Less politics more performance is something that has been proven throughout the history of sport.

Over the next two years the focus will be on giving our juniors and coaches the tools, the direction and the belief that they can succeed. We can provide the quality coaching, training and education that it needs to make it happen. I believe that NZ has talent capable of success on the world stage, it just requires all of us to pull in the same direction to achieve it.

Commonwealth Games, Manchester 2002

MAGNIFICENT MANCHESTER SQUASH TEAM – 2 GOLDS, I SILVER

The XVII Commonwealth Games in Manchester from 25th July to 4th August achieved a level of success beyond all expectations. The Games drew praise from everyone who attended for the creative planning, the magnificent facilities, the perfect execution of the programmes and above all for the 17,000 smiling volunteers who greeted visitors at every corner. Squash was a major success within the games and was staged on the latest state- of-the- art Squash Centre on six glass-back and 4 glass sided show courts. Players from 22 nations competed and the entry of 8 of the top 10 men and women in the world made it the highest quality

During competition, results were regularly relayed to the New Zealand sports fans and many stayed up until the small hours of the morning to view the live television coverage. The resulting medals for New Zealand thrilled everyone, players, fans, sports people and the non-sporting public alike. It gave the sport of Squash a huge amount sport on show. New Zealand's Leilani Rorani and Glen Wilson took the Mixed Doubles Gold Medal and Leilani with Carol Owens won the Women's Doubles Gold. Carol Owens won the Womens Singles Silver Medal. England and Australia were the other major Medal Winners. The overall medal table was:

of publicity and it was very pleasing to know that everyone was seeing the game at its best with all the latest court technologies such as the electronic tin in use. The other plus for the game was the grand competition but also sportmanship between players. The most important off- court event for Squash in Manchester was the visit of IOC President, Dr Jacque Roggie, who attended a quarterfinal of the Mixed Doubles. We were also privileged to be visited by Her Majesty Queen Elizabeth whose only other sports visit was to Hockey. The Count and Countess of Wessex also visited the Squash Centre and were so impressed they made a return visit.

The strength of this team was in them taking up the challenge to be ONE TEAM, ONE COUNTRY, ONE SUCCESS, and enjoying the team ethos that team sports enjoy. Everyone got on very well and was very supportive of the team atmosphere which was great as squash is a sport which is often dominated by an individual approach. The team really enjoyed the Games and was proud to represent New Zealand.

Dave Clarke, our National Coach was excellent and worked very hard before and during the Games to give each member of the team every chance of success. Most of this team had a huge amount of experience in the sport and this really reflected in our results and their exemplary behaviour right through the Games.

We are totally complimentary of the service provided by the Games HQ Team and their enthusiasm and total dedication to the job. All our needs were met more than adequately.

Our team was a happy co-operative group who will remember these Games as one of the highlights of their careers. In over 30 years of playing and managing squash teams I would rate this group as one of the most focussed and determined to do well. When one considers the huge resources, both financial and people, some of the other teams had backing them, as I sat in the gallery watching them win gold it was a unique feeling.

I thank the Team and Coach for their effort and co-operation in making these Games one of the most memorable squash events possible for Squash New Zealand.

World Squash Report

At the Annual General Meeting of the World Squash Federation (WSF) in Kuala Lumpur on 26th October marked the end of the reign of Susie Simcock as President of the Federation. As one of our own, Susie had served her maximum terms of seven years as Vice-President and six as President and, under current WSF rules, has now had to stand down.

"Susie has done a great job for Squash in that time and certainly made a huge difference to its perception in the Olympic arena," commented WSF Chief Executive Ted Wallbutton. "The first woman to be appointed to the Council of the prestigious General Association of International Sports Federations, and only the second to preside over an international sports federation, Susie has become well known and respected throughout the Olympic movement. Her natural charm, quick wit and excellent management skills have benefited the WSF considerably and she will be sorely missed," Wallbutton added.

Jahangir Khan was elected the new President of World Squash and a New Zealand connection has been retained with Neven Barbour being elected as Vice President together with Sani Karim (Malaysia) and Joyce Buckley (Ireland). They complete an excellent new management team.

Jahangir's first act in his new role was to invite his predecessor to accept the role of "Emeritus President" of the World Squash Federation and Chairman of the WSF Major Games committee. "Susie Simcock has been a brilliant leader for our sport over the past six years, earning huge respect for us wherever she has been and winning the hearts of everybody within minutes of their meetings. I know I will be talking to her on a regular basis for advice over the coming months," said Jahangir.

The following is the text of Susie's final President's Foreword for the Executive Committee Report 2001/2002, where she took an overview of her time at World Squash.

"The 26th October 2002, will mark a significant day for me. After thirteen years involvement with the WSF, I will stand down as an officer of the Federation that has occupied many of my waking hours, as well as significant amounts of sleeping time. I hope you will permit me to be a little self-indulgent and look back over the period since 1989 to note the changes and the progress the WSF has made.

When I first joined the WSF team in Kuala Lumpur it was as the 'Woman' Vice-President. This changed in 1992, when under a revised constitution; it became a requirement to elect three Vice President's - one female, one male whilst the third can be of either gender. It may have been a small step, but Squash has been a leader in ensuring both genders are represented on the management teamand certainly unique in more recent times, electing a female President!

When I first jointed the WSF I received one airmail envelope a month and an exchange of correspondence took at least a week. With the miracle of the fax machine I began to receive several communications a day and could complete the same task in two or three days. Now I receive up to 50 e-mails a day and sometimes three or four messages pass on the same topic in a morning With modern communications WSF Management Committee can be as fully briefed on day-to-day business as they wish to be and decisions are made with the best knowledge available. Every morning brings fresh and exciting messages on to my computer and the fact that the Head Office is 12000 miles away from New Zealand is now irrelevant.

In 1988 the WSF had 60 member nations. We now have 119 and are in contact with a further 25 Squash playing nations. We will be delighted to welcome China into membership at this year's AGM. Squash has become a truly worldwide, international sport." (in fact China and Sudan were welcomed to WSF membership at the recent AGM making 120 countries).

"It is not only Squash that has changed in this time. The modern social scene has led to a major change in the way we live and the time we can spend on our hobbies and sports. So many different options are now available to young people that it is no wonder that they no longer dedicate their sporting lives to just one or two options. Squash has to compete with a huge range of sports and activities for its players. Interests from skateboarding to computer games lure potential Squash players away from the courts. Our situation is not unique - all sports are coming to terms with this need to market their product more positively. Where Squash differs is that it is an exhilarating energetic and enjoyable form of "quick fix" exercise, making it the perfect sport in today's busy society. This is the main reason why we have been successful as a sport and why we continue to attract new enthusiasts. Trends in sport change over time, but in the end the best product will always prosper - and we have a great product.

The profile of Squash has never been higher with inclusion in the Commonwealth, Asian, Pan American, African and many important sub regional Games plus, of course, the World Games. We have a better spectator sport than ever before. New television techniques have made the all glass court really fulfil its potential. More colour, better equipment, exotic locations, enlightened promotions have all contributed to the success of Squash as both a television and live spectacle providing a showcase to demonstrate the skills and supreme athleticism of our top players. I am confident that this progress towards Squash being a significant spectator sport will continue.

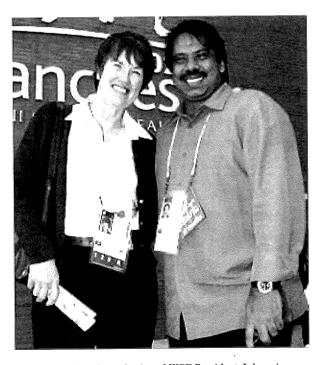

If I could give just one piece of advice to my successor President of the WSF it would be 'trust our members'. In every nation there exists a band of Squash enthusiasts who will always be available to protect the interests of our sport. If in doubt, talk to those who know and love Squash. They will give you the answers. I believe that the WSF has been successful because it consults with and reflects the wishes of its Member Nations. To keep Squash healthy and to keep it growing is why we exist and we should never lose sight of this primary objective.

The time I have spent with the WSF and particularly in the last six years as your President has been extraordinarily fulfilling and wonderful experience. The opportunity to meet and work with squash enthusiasts in every continent, across a range of cultures, including players, administrators, officials technical people and media specialists has been truly memorable.

Finally I would like thank you to all those who have supported me, from Tunku Imran through to my present Management team, to Ted and Lorraine for their outstanding office support and my family for learning to be independent! I thank you all for your support, your friendship, and for the special privilege you have given me of serving you as Vice-President and President of the World Squash Federation".

Thank you Susie for being a great New Zealander.

Susie Simcock with newly elected WSF President Jahangir Khan.

Grading & Statistics Report

The Grading System is the major part of the National Club Member Register. At the end of September 2002 it contained 16,553 graded players (2001-17,275). In addition, the national register contained a further 7,210 leisure / casual club members (2001 - 7040), giving a combined total of 23,763 "registered" club members (2001 - 24,315). This total number is however considered to be somewhat below real club membership as indications are that many clubs are not providing Squash NZ with complete details of their "leisure" members.

Competitive player numbers at the end of the 2002 season were down by 722 when compared with the same point in the 2001 season. (Oct-2001 - 17,275; Oct-2000 - 16,906; Oct-1999 - 17,741; Oct-1998 - 18,588).

As is the case with all sports, the number of persons participating in the sport squash has a direct bearing on the ability of the sport at all levels to attract outside support and revenue by way of sponsorships and grants from the various sources from which such funds are available.

It has been said many times before, and it cannot be stressed strongly enough that all clubs must ensure that all of their "members", regardless of membership category or the manner in which the users of club courts access the facilities, must be registered with the club, the district and Squash New Zealand. The maintenance of full and complete membership registers of all persons who use club facilities on a regular basis is of immense benefit to the sport, particularly at club level.

The operation of the grading system during the 2002 season saw the continuation of the operational policies of the previous seasons, the prime intention of which is to maintain an even spread of players across the B to F grades.

Graded player numbers across all grades continue to show that the policy under which the grading system has been operated for the past few seasons continues to have the desired effect. The early 1990's "bottom end bulge" with 70% of players in E & F grades, has been substantially reduced, with both C and D grade each having 20% of the players, B grade having 14% and E grade 27%. This is been achieved via the very careful adjustment and "loading" of the points scales within the grading system to promote the "regular winners" and thereby provide them with a reasonably rapid upward progression. Grading committee policy is to continue to maintain the even spread of "club" players across the range of B to E grades.

The increased A2, B and C grade numbers of the past few season has continued to have a positive effect on the number of player entries in A, B and C grade tournaments. However it is disappointing to see the continued drop in the number of teams entering the National Graded Club Teams event at a district level in 2002 - 341 teams, against 366 in 2001. (In 1994 there were 476 teams entered at a district level).

Age-group statistics over the past nine years provide interesting figures:

Numerically, the senior and masters numbers have decreased this season, while junior numbers have remained almost the same. Regretfully the number of juniors entering the sport still appears to be insufficient to replace the natural loss of seniors and masters. There still needs to be concern over what is obvious in most clubs - an overall lack of juniors and thus an aging adult squash population! As in the past years, it cannot be stressed strongly enough that juniors are the long term future of the sport and every effort must be made to attract and retain new junior players

Publishing of the Grading List on the Squash NZ website continued during the past season and was in fact enhanced by the increased frequency of publication late in the 2001 season, which continued for the 2002 season - twice monthly, on the 1st and 15th of each month. The increased frequency has been well received by players, as is evidenced by the substantially increased number of "hits" on the Squash NZ website, especially around publication dates.

However, the more frequent publication of the grading list has highlighted some areas of concern, not the least of which is the "prompt collection of results". Possible improvements to this area of the grading system are being evaluated and we are continuing to seek a viable means by which to provide clubs and districts with the ability toreplace a large proportion of the current "paper based" workload with a computer based application. In the meantime, event organisers need to be far more mindful of the need to submit results as quickly as possible.

The Squash Grading System continues to be the backbone of competitive squash in New Zealand and its successful operation is due to the considerable input of volunteer time and effort by club and district statisticians. Thanks must be extended to them for their work which benefits individual players and the sport of squash as a whole.

Refereeing Report

It has been a year of reflection and revision in the field of refereeing. The year began with a meeting of the revived National Referees Panel comprising Chas Evans, Gary Hutchinson, Jan McAra and myself in Auckland.

The meeting involved in-depth discussion about the way forward for refereeing, which led to a complete overhaul of the management plan and structure of refereeing in New Zealand squash.

The decision was made, and has now been ratified by the Squash New Zealand Executive Board, to simplify the structure. For example, the two grades of National Referees have been combined into one and club referees no longer exist. Copies of the new plan will shortly be available from the National Office and on the website - www.squashnz.co.nz

Congratulations to the 2002 recipient of the Derek Cook Memorial Trophy - Nichol Taylor, of Timaru. This trophy, donated to Squash NZ in 1981 by Kelvin Harding, is awarded for the most significant contribution in the field of refereeing during the year.

It was the first time Nichol had received the trophy. Previous recipients include Doug Flint, Chas Evans, Sandra Tinkler, and Peter Highsted.

World Referees Chas Evans and Peter Highsted had another busy year. Chas refereed at the Commonwealth Games in August and travelled to Malaysia on assessment duties in August. Peter went to Hong Kong in August.

Christchurch's Ian Gardiner qualified as a National Referee and Southland's Max Baird qualified as a District Referee. We also have three people with credits towards becoming a National Referee, who should be ready to go early next year once they gain their final qualifications. They are Chris Buckland, of Ashburton, and Rod Hayes and Phil Morgan, both of Christchurch.

The recipient of the 2002 Lion Foundation Squash Club of the Year is the Palmerston North Squash Club.

The award is presented annually to the squash club who, in the opinion of the judging panel, has demonstrated the most significant achievements in growth, innovation, playing performance and overall development within the last twelve months.

The Palmerston North Squash Club is characterised by its strong and committed leadership. It is a club that is driven by a committee of dedicated and visionary people who have developed a clear and realistic business plan for the future and this plan has been well supported in turn by an enthusiastic volunteer base.

A major factor in the successful growth of the club has been the adoption of an "open door" policy. Over 250 casual players use the facility on a regular basis and this in turn has encouraged new members to join the club. Membership has increased by approximately 12% in the last year to 385 and casual usage has increased by 25%.

The club has a pro shop, open every day, which runs the membership and administrative side of the club. It is also the "face" of Palmerston North Squash and has been an integral part of the club's success.

The club is in a very sound financial position thanks to good accounting policies and tight fiscal controls. With a turnover approaching $250,000 per annum and a healthy operating surplus the club is well poised to embark on some exciting and innovative development plans. Included amongst those are court upgrades, the construction of a new entrance way and the establishment of a gymnasium for public and club use.

Along with the "open door" policy the club also decided to allow the public or casual players to play alongside the club members. The extra activity has been the stimulus for increased participation and new sponsorship arrangements. The club has successfully negotiated around $45,000 of sponsorship for the year, resigned it's principal sponsor for a further two year period and negotiated contracts with several other multinational and national companies for two and three year terms.

The club has developed introductory programmes for new members including player packs, a skills based programme for juniors, junior club nights and a comprehensive competitive calendar. A successful partnership has been established with Palmerston North Boys High School and up to sixty boys regularly play squash at the club courts with some going on to become full members of the club. During the year the club hosted the Central Open, round one of the New Zealand Players series, and the New Zealand Secondary Schools Championships.

The Palmerston North Squash Club has enjoyed a successful competitive year at club, district and national levels. This year nine teams were entered in the district eliminations for the graded teams event of which three went on to represent the district at the national finals. With the innovative use of a former Australian representative the club fielded a very strong Cousins Shield team that made the semi finals of the event. The club is also the "Champion of Champions" club in the central district and it continues to have a strong representation in district teams.

The mission statement for the club is to be the best sports club in the central North Island. This vision is the focus of the club's management team and has the support of the membership. The achievements to date have been the result of good planning, strong leadership and excellent support systems and will continue to position the club as one of the countries premier squash and sporting facilities.

Squash New Zealand and the Lion Foundation congratulate the Palmerston North Squash Club as Club of the Year for 2002 and wish them every success for their future endeavours.

Club Kelburn

The last 12 months has once again been a great year in many ways at Club Kelburn. The club is in great shape in terms of our core club activities - namely squash programmes and associated gym memberships. Our squash court revenue maintained its good position on last year almost to the dollar, and our gym fees, with the addition of a great "Free Weights" room grew 24%. Profit on our extensive shop activities was down 10% but our shop still maintains a position of being one of the top handfuls of squash product retailers in the country. This is aided by marketing to our local clubs, as well as marketing nation-wide, mainly trough our very successful website (www.clubk.co.nz).

Our Club's goal to our members/customers (or mission statement - if you wear a tie to work) is "To be the best part of your day". I mention this because I put a lot of the success of Club Kelburn down to the fact that we appreciate that our members/customers are parting with their discretionary income and time at our club, and that they have a huge choice as to how/where they spend those two sought-after assets. We show our appreciation by trying to provide them with a Club that they are proud to be associated with. If they are continuously impressed with what we are doing at Club K, they will become an advocate for us. In this way we are securing our future.

First and foremost we try to be friendly to our members/customers. This starts at the door with a friendly "HI" and smile, and ends when they leave with a smile and a "BYE". The gap in the middle is where we constantly make them aware of all of our products and services (cross selling to the tie-wearers). We try to be the 'friendliest club in town', a 'home away from home'.

Becoming a multi-use facility with the addition of the gym a few years ago, and the other range of things on offer at Club K is a huge advantage for us. With a range of squash programmes, extensive gym facilities, shop, golf driving range, café, tanning & sauna rooms, we are well placed to offer our customers/members a good range of activities to be involved in. It is the "mall" concept in sports terms, and is successful where it is done well all over the world. Any squash club in NZ who wants to grow in the next few years needs to look at not only having excellent squash programmes, but other activities to increase the "traffic flow". Many people join our gym and start playing squash as a result, who would not have bothered hunting out a 'squash-only' type club.

Our successful squash revenue once again has come about through running interesting programmes. These are centred around our social leagues, our very busy business-house competition, our beginners "Sunday Club" (an introductory-type programme for those just new to the game), and coaching programmes. Dawn Carter has done a great job this year running our squash programmes. She has been very active in the last four months in schools, teaching them about various squash programmes we have started lately, or will be starting in the New Year. This has not been easy, with so many other options for the kids to do, but we are making progress, and are committed to working with people from Squash Wellington to increase the number of kids getting into squash.

We have a new team of gym trainers on board - Diarmuid and Kathryn. They have fitted in very well to the club culture and have made excellent starts to building strong relationships with our members/customers. I have recently appointed a full-time Cleaner/Maintenance, Manager to the Club. Alex is settling in well, and our intention is to lift the standards in these two key areas (cleaning and maintenance) in further efforts to increase our patron's enjoyment of our club.

The next year will see more challenges and changes at Club K, and all things going to plan I look forward to writing my 10th annual report next October! Finally, thanks to Neven Barbour for his continued support and guidance in "all things squash and fitness". Neven has worked tirelessly for our club going right back to when Squash New Zealand bought it in the 70's. His input into squash in NZ has been unbelievable over the years, and his positive impact in a lot of areas is sadly under-rated by some. I will continue to use him as my mentor as long as his prominent nose is above, and not under, the ground.

Masters Report

I would like to acknowledge the contribution made by Gower Dallimore as Director of Masters Squash, for many years.

With over half the graded players being masters, it has been important to have someone of his experience in this position. The players appreciate the time and effort put in by Gower.

I am fortunate to have been provided with such good groundwork.

TRANS TASMAN TEST SERIES

This did not take place this year. Australia was not in a position to send a team over. A number of factors influenced this. Peter Wright, the President of Australia Masters Squash, mentioned finance as a problem, associated with Melbourne having hosted the World Masters Squash Championships in October 2001, and the World Masters Games in September 2002. This made it too difficult to organise.

The proposal for next year is for the Australians to come here and play a test series around our Nationals in October 2003 in Nelson. This would allow time for the World Championships in Finland in August, and the Australian Championships in Queensland in September.

In 2004 it is proposed New Zealand travel to Australia, the timing to be confirmed. Thereafter it is suggested the Test Series be held every two years - hence avoiding the clash of the World Championships and the Trans-Tasman tests in the same year.

NATIONAL CLUB TEAMS EVENT

This was to have been held at Taupo in August, but was cancelled because of lack of support.

While a number of factors could be responsible for this, as this competition has struggled for entries since its inception, I think we need to look at the team format.

When this event was initiated four years ago, the Masters Advisory Committee was keen to include older masters in the format, in order to keep them competing. However, according to Steve's statistics, there is a considerable drop off in numbers of players graded B2 and above in the men in the 50+ age group, and in the women in the 45+ age group.

Unfortunately there is a perception that team members need to be at least B2 to be competitive in a National Event. With this in mind and after discussion at the Players Meeting at the Nationals, I propose that we reduce the team by two players, to the following: Men 35+, 40+, 45+, and Women 35+, 40+. Older players can always play down.

I also propose that we shift the event to earlier in the season, to avoid proximity to the Graded Teams Finals, and the Nationals.

It will be interesting to see if these changes result in more entries.

WORLD MASTERS GAMES

Melbourne - September 2002

Although only a few New Zealanders took part in the squash at this event, there were plenty of Australians there!

Congratulations to Tony Naughton who won gold in the 50+ age group.

OCEANIA MASTERS SQUASH

Norfolk Island - July 2002

I was one of two New Zealander's to play in this tournament. Very enjoyable, not a big entry, but quite a few Australians - and, yes! - I won my age group!

NEW ZEALAND CHAMPIONSHIPS

Whakatane hosted the 21stNationals over Labour Weekend. The tournament ran very smoothly, thanks to a very efficient, capable and helpful team, led by Wayne Wills.

Individuals

There were 150 entries of predominantly higher graded players. We would like to see more lower-graded players taking part, so they could enjoy both the social and competitive side of such a large group of masters together.

There were some wonderful exhibitions of squash - particularly from Danny McQueen, who glides effortlessly around the court, and is an inspiration to us all.

Notable achievements

- Jenny Webster winning her 15th National Title
- Freda Walker winning a title, after being runner-up 12 times
- A husband and wife Cheryl and Danny McQueen, both winning titles
- Abrother and sister Richard Purser and Judy Cooper also winning titles
- The welcome return of Rod Hayes, to take a title after a few years off.

Full results - in the results section.

INTER DISTRICT TEAMS EVENT

This was very closely contested this year, with the top three teams being in contention until the final match on the final day.

Six teams took part, so there was a round robin involving all teams. This proved popular, despite it meaning having to play two ties a day, twice.

The players enjoyed playing against and getting to know, all the other teams.

It was interesting to note many reversals of results when players had to play against each other in both the individuals and the teams.

It was apparent that teams were fortunate if they had strength, and reserves, in the older age groups. They were able to move older players into younger age groups with success.

Waikato, Wellington and Central had some very close ties, but it was Auckland, Canterbury and Bay of Plenty who provided the most excitement. Auckland beat Canterbury on a count back of games, BOP beat Auckland on a count back, then BOP beat Canterbury 6/4 to win the title.

If the last match of the last tie had gone to Canterbury, Auckland would have won the title. (It was very interesting playing on the next court, hearing Auckland voices cheering for Canterbury!)

It was a thrill for BOP to win this event for the first time and in their home territory. Let's hope they can field as a strong team next year, when it will be held in Nelson.

IN CONCLUSION

The National Masters Advisory Committee was disbanded this year. I have relied on the Masters Selectors, Sandra Tinkler and Lawrence Skurr for help when needed. They have been great support.

At the Nationals we had a well attended Players Meeting where many people from different clubs and districts tossed ideas around and made positive suggestions for the direction we should go.

I see a very promising future for Masters Squash in New Zealand.

Junior/Youth Report

Youth(s) at the top

It was really pleasing to see a number of our top Junior-Youth players competing well at the senior nationals. Jared Conning is one player who is making a very impressive comeback into squash after time on the side recovering from surgery. His performance at the Senior National Championships was one of the highlights of the year. Fortunately there are more with the potential to follow him from the current age groups and we hope the younger athletes will continue to be inspired by these performances. While on the international scene its worth noting the international performance of another top youth squash player - but this time in the music scene. Phil Buscke is certainly making it big and we wish him well in his off-thecourt career in music.

Versus Australia:

The test series against the perennial rivals produced some interesting results for the junior men. The test series was closer than the score suggested. This is a real credit to the players and coaching staff who obviously worked hard with the players. Strategies now in place, courtesy of the National Coach, are starting to make a real difference to the current crop of players and we can look forward to an improving international standard for our emerging players.

Junior Series - Supported by 5+aDay

Congratulations to the top U13 and U15 who went through to tie in taking out the 5+aDay trophy for 2002. Both Amanda Cranston and Josh Thom deserved their prizes as top performers in this Junior player series. Once again this series is making a real difference in generating real interest in competition and in so doing is having a positive impact on the skill level of the participants. We are certainly grateful to our sponsors 5+aDay and Smoke Free.

District Development and Coaching

In the 2001 annual report, I acknowledged the importance of coaches to the development of the game. All juniors in the game need good coaches to get the best out of them. This year I was able to sit in on a couple of junior camps and saw some excellent work by the coaching staff under the leadership of the national coach. I can report that we are again fortunate with the appointment of another good professional in David Clarke as national coach. Coaches who worked alongside Dave have been impressed and encouraged by the high level of commitment and perseverance that Dave was able to draw out of the players during training sessions. I believe its now only a question of time before some of our top performers reach the international standard that will make the squash community and potential sponsors sit up and take notice.

District Supremacy

The Gifford Cup has so far been the Auckland Cup - the sign of district dominance in the junior ranks. This year's competition was very close with Auckland narrowly defeating Central for the trophy. Waikato and Canterbury were also very close behind and in all the competition did shape up as a very close affair. Its really good that most districts are making good progress with their junior development programmes as was witnessed by the large number of top performers at the championships. This is one very pleasing part of the overall state of the national junior development program for squash.

North & South Island Championships

Both of these events were well supported by young players as well as the top players. The shift in dates to the middle week of the April and July school holidays seems to have been accepted without too much bother. Holding the event in the South Island in April seems to have been popular for more reasons than just squash competition. Some thought it was ideal given the extreme conditions that can occur in that Southern most city in winter.

Secondary School Teams Competition

The secondary schools squash team competition must surely be one of the largest of its kind in NZ. 52 teams took part and Warwick Gay (Tournament Controller) reports that there is still a lot of keen interest and enthusiasm for school squash. Well done to Warwick and the team from Sport Manawatu and SDO Graeme Randolph. It's the second time it has gone to Palmerston in recent years and shows the level of enthusiasm and commitment the region has in junior squash. Congratulations to Gisborne Girls and Tawa College for taking out the respective school teams event

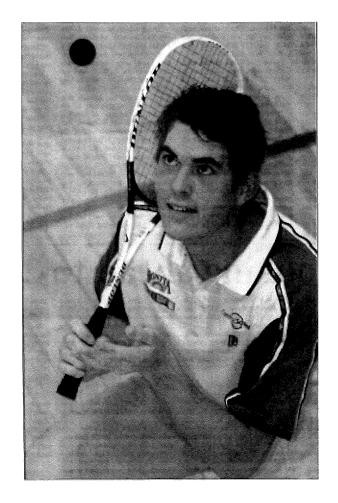

SDOs and Referees

Growing the game has come a long way and some of the credit goes to the SDOs. Whenever I have attended a junior national event, there have been signs in the background of a busy SDO doing his/her part. Many thanks again to the national referees for their attendance at all the major junior events. Improvement in our program does need their input and it is an important aspect of squash development.

Thanks also to the many parents who made sacrifices to ensure their young player made it to the tournament or training camp on time. I am confident the effort will be worth it in terms of the confidence and esteem the player develops during their involvement in training and participation in competition.

Audit Report

To the Readers of the financial report of New Zealand Squash Incorporated.

I have audited the financial statements on pages 37-43. The financial statements provides information about the past financial performance of New Zealand Squash Incorporated and its financial position as at 30th September 2002. This information is stated in accordance with the accounting policies as set out on page 40.

NEW ZEALAND SQUASH INCORPORATED RESPONSIBILITIES

The Executive Council is responsible for the preparation of the financial statements which give a true and fair view of the financial position of New Zealand Squash Incorporated as at 30 September 2002 and of the results of its operations for the year ended 30 September 2002.

AUDITOR'S RESPONSIBILITIES

It is my responsibility to express an independent opinion on the financial statements presented by the Executive Council and report my opinion to you.

BASIS OF OPINION

An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence relevant to the amounts and disclosures in the financial report. It also includes assessing:

- The significant estimates and judgements made by the Executive Council in the preparation of the financial statements, and
- Whether the accounting policies are appropriate to New Zealand Squash Incorporated. circumstances, consistently applied and adequately disclosed.

I have conducted the audit in accordance with generally accepted auditing standards in a New Zealand. I planned and performed the audit so as to obtain all the information and explanations which I considered necessary. I obtained sufficient evidence to give reasonable assurance that the financial statements are free from material misstatements, whether caused by fraud or error. In forming our opinion I also evaluated the overall adequacy of the presentation of the information in the financial statements.

Other than my capacity as auditor I have no other relationship with or interests in New Zealand Squash Incorporated.

QUALIFIED OPINION

As with other organisations of a similar nature, control over income prior to its being recorded is limited, and no practical audit procedures exist to determine the effect of this limited control.

I have obtained all other information and explanations required.

In my opinion: proper accounting records have been kept by the Executive Council as far as appears from my examination of those records and except for any adjustments that might have been found necessary had I obtained the information described above, the financial statements on pages 38 & 39 comply with generally accepted accounting and give a true and fair view of the financial position of New Zealand Squash as at 30 September 2002 and of the year ended on that date.

My audit was completed on 14th November 2002, and my qualified opinion is expressed as at that date.

As Chairman, on behalf of the Executive Council of New Zealand Squash (Inc), we accept responsibility for the preparation of these financial statements. The statements have been prepared in accordance with generally accepted accounting practices. As part of the Association's financial management systems, effective controls have been implemented and maintained to provide reasonable assurance as to the integrity and reliability of financial reporting. We are satisfied that these financial statements fairly reflect the financial position and operation of the Association for the reporting period.

DAVID BASSETT

Chairman

I - ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Statement of Accounting Policies

Differential Reporting

New Zealand Squash (Inc) is the New Zealand national sporting organisation responsible for the control, advancement and regulation of the game of squash throughout New Zealand. New Zealand Squash (Inc) is incorporated under the Incorporated Societies Act 1908.

The Association qualifies for differential reporting as it is not publicly accountable and does not qualify as "large", as defined within the Institute of Chartered Accountants of New Zealand's framework for differential reporting. The entity has taken advantage of all the differential reporting exemptions available to it.

Measurement Base

The accounting principles recognised as appropriate for the measurement and reporting of earnings and financial position on an historical cost basis have been followed. Accrual accounting is used to match income and expenditure.

Specific Accounting Policies

The following specific accounting policies which materially affect the measurement of financial performance, and of financial position have been applied:

Operating Leases

Operating lease payments, where the lessors effectively retain substantially all the risks and benefits of ownership of the leased items, are included in the determination of operating profit in equal installments over the term of the lease (refer Note 11).

Finance Leases

The Association leases certain office equipment. Finance leases, which effectively transfer to the entity substantially all the risks and benefits incidental to ownership over the lease term, are capitalised at the present value of the minimum lease payments. The lease assets and corresponding liabilities are disclosed and the leased assets are depreciated using the maximum rates allowable by the Income Tax Act 1994.

Stock

Stock has been valued at the lower of cost or net realisable value. Due allowance has been made for slow moving stock.

Goods & Services Tax

The financial statements have been prepared on a GST exclusive basis.

Construction Contracts

Profits on construction contracts are determined using the percentage of completion method. Profits are recognised only when the outcome can be reliably estimated.

Foreseeable losses on a contract are recognised immediately.

Fixed Assets

All fixed assets are recorded at cost less accumulated depreciation to date. Depreciation has been provided at the maximum rates permitted by the Income Tax Act 1994.

Investments are loans advanced to clubs for renovations and development and are stated at cost.

Changes in Accounting Policies

There have been no changes in accounting policies. All policies have been applied on a basis consistent with those used in previous years.

2 - INVENTORY COMMITMENTS

No inventories are specifically and separately pledged as security for liabilities. Inventory is subject to retention of title clauses.
